St Anne's College Oxford

St. Anne's College, founded in 1952, can trace its origins back to 1878 and the formation of the Association for the Education of Women in Oxford, later known as the Society of Oxford Home Students. Today it is one of the largest of the Colleges and Halls which admit undergraduate and graduate students to read for degrees within the University of Oxford. It is fully co-educational, with a near equal mix of men and women both in the student body and on the teaching staff.

A unique conference and banqueting venue

Situated within 5 acres of tranquil leafy grounds, St Anne's enjoys a unique atmosphere in which to hold any conference, dinner or special event. With a team of experienced professionals on hand we take care of those fine details which help any event run smoothly.

The key members of our team who will look after you have a long experience in providing a top quality service at St Anne's.

184 well-appointed ensuite rooms offer a degree of comfort not always found in College accommodation. All rooms have tea/coffee making facilities and 50 can be converted into twins. All rooms have ethernet connections.

In addition, 90 well-appointed rooms with washbasins overlook the main quad and are within easy reach of the hall and meeting rooms. All have been recently refurbished.

"On behalf of the Master and members of council I write to thank you for contributing to another successful "Oxford". Please say well done to all the staff involved with our booking. I must say the new building is very impressive. I look forward to working with you towards next year's arrangements."

OXFORD OPHTHALMOLOGICAL CONGRESS

"Just wanted to send you a thank you for all you did for our Conference and its participants. The feedback so far suggests it was very successful and the food was much enjoyed along with the comfort and ambience. I would recommend St Anne's to anyone."

College facilities

The impressive Mary Ogilvie Lecture Theatre has a capacity for 148 delegates and enjoys good acoustics, air conditioning and sound proofing. Full audio-visual facilities are available.

The Ruth Deech Building is an outstanding example of modern architecture. The Conference complex contains exclusive dining facilities, a light and airy lecture theatre – seating 82, 3 seminar rooms and exhibition space, all the components you need to create your successful event.

There are a further six smaller syndicate rooms which can accommodate numbers ranging from 6 to 60 in a variety of layouts. All rooms are on the main College site so no rushing back from lunch to recommence.

Access to these attractive facilities are available throughout the year whether it be for product launches, corporate events, team building to name but a few. Flexibility is our middle name.

“Just a quick thank you to you and your staff for another great Conference. As always the food was excellent and the accommodation and facilities perfect. See you next year.”

PHILOSOPHY
CONFERENCE

Dining

St Anne's enjoys an enviable reputation for its food and service. Whether you wish to hold a banquet or barbeque St Anne's has all the ingredients for an enjoyable occasion. In a recent competition amongst Oxford Colleges, the highly coveted award for "Chef of the Year" went to our Head Chef (Ray Killick).

In addition, this was also the night when our Second Chef, Andrew Castle, won the equally exceptional accolade for the Developing Chef of the Year. At the Awards Ceremony the year before, our Kitchen was selected as "Kitchen of the Year". We believe that catering is a very important component for your event to be a success.

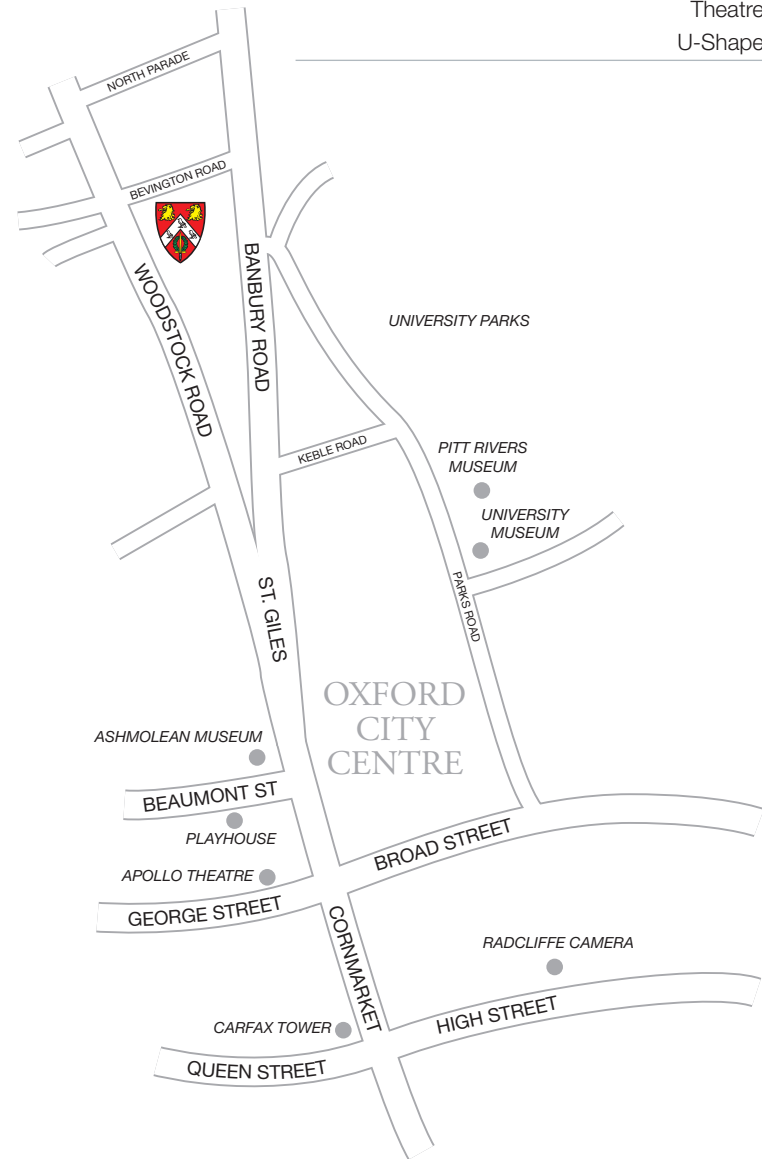

"Just wanted to send you a thank you for all you did for our Conference and its participants. The feedback so far suggests it was very successful and the food was much enjoyed along with the comfort and ambience. I would recommend St Anne's to anyone."
